

Consultant Profile: Annegret Lange De Angelis

Born 1966, married with one son, studied sociology, political science and psychology

Previous positions as a consultant and trainer: 1992 freelance project management of an organisational development project; 1999 - 2005 Senior Consultant + deputy Managing Director of a management consultancy firm; since 2006 a Managing Director of plan a

Main areas of expertise: management development, project support with change management, team development, moderation, consultant training, and currently focusing on strengthening the personality of managers

Training courses: Systemic consulting, process consulting, project management implementation, managing of international projects, organisational constellations

And some more about me:
I love spending time in Argentina